

Making Finance Work for Women

Making Finance Work for Women Virtual Summit and Fintech Innovation Challenge

October 20th – 21st, 2020

Women's World Banking brings convening power to conferences and events around the world. Our events showcase over 40 years of experience in the financial inclusion sector and aim to drive actions that accelerate opportunities for low-income women globally. We bring our global network of financial institution partners in 32 countries together to share knowledge with the wider industry about the opportunities that come from women's financial inclusion.

Now in its 7th year, Women's World Banking's flagship platform, Making Finance Work for Women, will host its 2020 Summit in a virtual format. The event will bring together over 300 leaders from financial service providers, Fintechs, donors, investors, and research firms over the course of two half-day sessions. Attendees will examine issues in financial inclusion, with a focus on resilience and innovation during times of crisis through panel discussions and interactive sessions. Key themes will be the power of Fintechs to reach low-income women in emerging markets and mitigate against global shocks. We will also explore impact investing in an uncertain climate, and why women in leadership is key to better performance and stability.

At the virtual Summit, we will also host our annual Fintech Innovation Challenge. The Challenge will identify and support Fintechs that are developing solutions to help low-income women build economic security and prosperity. The two grand prize winners will go on as finalists at the Monetary Authority of Singapore's Global FinTech Hackelerator at the Singapore FinTech Festival.
